economy practiced in the management of the city's affairs has enabled you to make a favorable showing.

We have met every obligation which the city has entered into; we have paid officers their salaries; kept up the streets; maintained a city jail; provided the absolute necessities of the fire department, and awarded expensive badges to several honora. Truen; pail the full amount of the city's water real for the time, and also $1,250 on this account in advance; kept our sewer system in order, and likewise paid a few hundred dollars for improvements on the same at the outlet to the river; paid rents for the city hall, hose houses, and hook and-ladder house, and for light and fuel for these buildings.

I am happy to say the city to day does not owe a wisa. for anything incurred during this atministration, so far, under the Bateman law, which is not or cannot be paid out of the funds now in the treasury. And after paying all interest due by the city, and having made provision for all the different sinking funds which were established for the utilimate liquidation of our city bonds, we shall stul have a very respectable balance left.

still have a very respectable balance left in our treasury.

We have met every necessary contingent, and made some improvements. But there is one thing which might and should have been done in the past year, which was neglected—the completion of our electric fire alarm system. It is to be hoped, however, that the council will speedily act in this matter; and also try repeedity act in this matter; and also try to make arrangements for the lighting of our streets at night, as soon as it shall become apparent that the funds avail-able for this current year (1898) will permit of its being done, of all of which I have no reasonable doubt. I sincerely hope that the new year upon which we are now entering may bring to the city of Albuquerque still greater prosperity.

THE ANNUAL REPORTS!

Stating that at the commencement of the year 1897, the business of this city was conducted on a paper order system. All accounts were paid in warrants upon the treasurer, whether there was money in the treasurer or not. These warrants were promises to pay in some indefinite time—consequently they were much below par, and this increased the expense of conducting the business of the city.

These warrants outstanding on March 12th last amounted to $60,000, with according the business of the city. These warrants outstanding on March 12th last amounted to $60,000, with according the business of the city and according to the city according to the
